

2010 HCI Oral Exam Format

Date: To be confirmed

Description:

In groups of up to three, you should make a presentation about some of the theories, models or frameworks that we have focussed on in the class. The presentation should relate the theories to a particular design case or work setting. Each member of the group should discuss the case from the perspective of a different theory that we have covered in the class. You should be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of the basic principles of the theory.
- Be able to relate it to other theories presented in the course and discuss advantages or disadvantages.
- Relate it to a practical situation.

Format:

The format of the presentation will be a 15-minute presentation, followed by 10 minutes of questions and discussion.
